SCANCAFE LAUNCHES AFFILIATE PROGRAM TO HELP BLOGGERS AND WEB SITE OWNERS ENHANCE CONTENT AND INCREASE REVENUES

ScanCafe to Offer 10 Percent Commission on Photo, Negative and Slide Scanning Orders Driven to its Site

SAN FRANCISCO -- (October 9, 2007) – ScanCafe, an online service that helps professional and amateur photographers scan and preserve photos, negatives and slides, today announced an affiliate program for anyone driving traffic to its site. Through this program, ScanCafe will deliver a 10 percent commission on all new sales driven to its site. Now, bloggers, Web site owners and professional affiliates can target professional and amateur photographers searching for a reliable tool to restore and preserve their memories. Whether offering useful gift giving ideas or helpful organization tips, affiliates can increase their revenue by registering with ScanCafe’s new affiliate program at www.scancafe.com/affiliates.php.

“Affiliates are crucial to building a useful online community and extending reach to a broader audience,” said Sam Allen, CEO of ScanCafe. “Many successful online service providers have seen the value in working with bloggers and Web site owners to encourage business growth. This program will not only help spread the word about our unique service, but will also reward the online community for helping us grow our business.”

Anyone with photographs, negatives and slides that they would like to preserve may use ScanCafe. This opens a vast amount of Web traffic which could generate new revenue streams for participating affiliates. Additionally, Web site owners and bloggers that become ScanCafe affiliates will have access to new Web content that may appeal to virtually anyone surfing the Web.
