

ScanCafe

What is ScanCafe?

We take your old photos, slides, and negatives, and turn them into archival-quality digital files that you can share and keep forever. We hand-scan each image--that is, we scan and manually adjust each image to correct damage that will have happened in the years since the picture was taken.

Memories in danger

The average American family has taken about 100 to 270 pictures a year for 40 years, according to PMA. Yet if not digitized, their photos, negatives and slides may be lost. They can be damaged by fire, water or humidity, or they could be misplaced in a move. And, according to experts, their color photos will inevitably fade and stain--in many cases, within 10 years or less (see Wilhelm, Henry, The Permanence and Care of Color Photographs, 1993).

But the worst danger to these memories is to be forgotten. Sitting in a box in the closet, old photos--your family's memories--can be ignored or overlooked by children and grandchildren. Fortunately, ScanCafe is an easy and affordable solution.

How it works

When you order at www.scancafe.com, you'll print out a specially bar-coded UPS label. Then pack your box, affix the labels, and drop it at a UPS store near you.

We handle the rest. Once your images are scanned, you can review them. Then we return your originals and a DVD of the scans.

Frequently asked questions

Q: Is using ScanCafe safe?

Yes it is. We've successfully scanned over 52 million images, so we've learned how to keep images safe. Also:

- We guarantee our handling of your photos
- You can track your order online, from door to door
- You can review your scans online before finalizing payment

Q: Is it expensive?

ScanCafe is an outstanding value. Our service, with hand-scanning and archival quality, is priced beginning at $0.22 per image. That's less than half the price of alternatives. So don't worry about which memory to preserve--you can afford to preserve them all.
